

Child's Care Chart

I created this chart for my 8 yr old daughter. She's an animal lover (like me) and caring for a fawn can be a fun and rewarding job for a responsible child. Caring for an animal teaches responsibility and how to be gentle, etc. And using a chart like the one I've created will help your child remember when to do their "care chores" and to keep track of what was done so you can keep "in check" with the fawn's care. Of course the child should not be considered the sole caretaker of the fawn. An adult should supervise all care and records, etc. A fawn is a big responsibility.

This chart is more for the older child (approx 7-12 years old). The chores included are for the older fawn (approx 6 -8 weeks old) that is getting 3 bottles per day.

For the younger fawn - Feel free to contact me for a custom chart with more feedings. (Price will vary depending on detail, format, etc.) jwphotographypa@aol.com

Formats Available:

- PDF
- JPEG
- PNG
- PSD

This chart includes all the days of the week.

Care Chores Include:

- * Morning Bottle
- * Fresh Water
- * Noon Bottle
- * Clean Pen
- * Dirt & Greens
- * Evening Bottle

Feeding and caring for fawns can be a very fun and rewarding job for children (and adults to!)

REMEMBER A child should not be the sole care taker of a young fawn, young fawns take a lot of work including night time feedings.

No matter what age the fawn is - the care should always be supervised.

(fawn care chart is below on page 2)

Fawn Care Chart

Fawn's Name: _____

	Morning Bottle	Fresh Water	Noon Bottle	Clean Pen	Dirt & Greens	Evening Bottle
Sun.
Mon.
Tues.
Wed.
Thurs.
Fri.
Sat.						